

Synaptics to Participate at the 2012 International Consumer Electronics Show

January 4, 2012

SANTA CLARA, Calif., Jan. 4, 2012 /PRNewswire/ -- Synaptics Incorporated (NASDAQ: SYNA), a leading developer of human interface solutions for mobile computing, communications and entertainment devices, today announced that the company will have its latest ClearPad™ and TouchPad™ capacitive touch solutions on display at the 2012 Consumer Electronics Show (CES) in Las Vegas. Product demos will include the ClearPad Series 2, ClearPad Series 3 sensor on lens, in-cell and on-cell solutions, and ClearPad Series 4 in-cell solutions for the mobile market. ClickPad™ Series 3 with InterTouch™ for the PC market and Microsoft Windows 8 as well as ClearPad Series 7 for the tablet market, along with solutions for the digital home environment, will also be on display.

As the technology leader in the PC and handheld markets with more than one billion capacitive touch solutions shipped to date, Synaptics is well established as the "touch" industry expert with the deep systems-level engineering experience needed to implement advanced touch technologies. Synaptics will exhibit its latest solutions for mobile, PC and consumer electronic devices in a private meeting space (LVCC, South Hall 2, lower level, #MP25144) from January 10 through January 14.

Synaptics' presence at CES will kick off with Vice President of Marketing Ted Theocheung's participation in Digital Hollywood's CES panel, "TouchIt! Tablet-SmartPhone-Gaming-PC- Roundtable on the Immersive Consumer Experience," on Monday, January 9, 2012 from 4:00 PM to 5:00 PM at the Las Vegas Convention Center. Synaptics was invited to participate in this session, designed for innovators and executives, based on its experience driving the creation and growth of the capacitive touch market with intuitive human interface solutions.

Customers and suppliers are encouraged to contact their Synaptics partner to arrange a meeting time at CES. Media are encouraged to contact Holly Little at 650-762-2888 or holly.little@edelman.com, to arrange a meeting time.
