- GAAP net loss per share of $2.42 reflecting one-time tax charges
- Non-GAAP net income per diluted share of $1.11
- · Retail availability of new Vivo flagship phone featuring industry's first in-display fingerprint solution from Synaptics

San Jose, CA – February 7, 2018 – Synaptics Incorporated (NASDAQ: SYNA), the leading developer of human interface solutions, today reported financial results for its second fiscal quarter ended December 31, 2017.

Net revenue for the second quarter of fiscal 2018 declined seven percent from the comparable quarter last year and increased three percent sequentially to $430.4 million. GAAP net loss for the second quarter of fiscal 2018 was $82.4 million, or $2.42 per share, which reflects a $54 million discrete tax charge for both the impact of the one-time transition tax on accumulated foreign earnings and write-down of deferred tax assets for tax law changes under the recently passed tax act.

Non-GAAP net income for the second quarter of fiscal 2018 decreased $15.2 from the comparable quarter last year and increased $3.1 million sequentially to $38.2 million. Non-GAAP net income per diluted share for the second quarter of fiscal 2018 was $1.11, a decrease of 26 percent from the comparable quarter last year and an increase of eight percent sequentially. (See below under the heading "Use of Non-GAAP Financial Information" and the attached table for a description and a reconciliation of GAAP to non-GAAP financial measures.)

"Synaptics is starting to benefit from our transition encompassing a more diversified product portfolio and customer base, and we expect to see strong momentum from our investments in infinity displays and consumer IoT in the second half of this calendar year," stated Rick Bergman, President and CEO. "We continue to make meaningful strides across our core growth priorities within chip-on-film, OLED, in-display fingerprint and consumer IoT. This includes retail availability of the Vivo X20 Plus UD flagship smartphone, the world's first phone with in-display fingerprint powered by Synaptics; the introduction of new chip-on-film display driver solutions enabling infinity displays for LCD phones; our first mass production orders for OLED display drivers; and, continued traction in capitalizing on the key inflection point for voice-enabled products."

Second Quarter 2018 Business Metrics (fingerprint products classified according to type of device)

- Revenue mix from mobile products was approximately 61 percent. Revenue from mobile products of $261.8 million was down 11 percent sequentially and down 30 percent year-over-year. Mobile products revenue includes all touchscreen, display driver, and applicable fingerprint products.
- Approximately $20.9 million of mobile product revenue for Q2 fiscal 2017 has been reclassified as IoT revenue.
- Revenue mix from consumer IoT products was approximately 25 percent. Revenue from consumer IoT products totaled $106.9 million and includes $25.3 million of revenue formerly classified as mobile revenue.
- Revenue mix from PC products was approximately 14 percent. Revenue from PC products totaled $61.7 million, a sequential decrease of six percent and a decrease of three percent year-over-year, and includes applicable fingerprint products.

Wajid Ali, CFO, added, "Considering our backlog of $252 million entering the March quarter, subsequent bookings, customer forecasts and product sell-in and sell-through timing patterns, and the resulting expected product mix, we anticipate revenue for the third quarter of fiscal 2018 to be in the range of $380 to $420 million, or down seven percent sequentially at the mid-point during the weakest seasonal quarter of our fiscal year. We expect the revenue mix from mobile, consumer IoT and PC products to be approximately 61 percent, 23 percent and 16 percent, respectively."

Cash at December 31, 2017 was $252 million, and cash flow from operations during the second quarter of 2018 was $63 million.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Information

In evaluating its business, Synaptics considers and uses Non-GAAP Net Income, which we define as net income excluding share-based compensation, acquisition related costs, and certain other non-cash or recurring and non-recurring items the company does not believe are indicative of its core operating performance as a supplemental measure of operating performance. Non-GAAP Net Income is not a measurement of the company's financial performance under GAAP and should not be considered as an alternative to GAAP net income. The company presents Non-GAAP Net Income because it considers it an important supplemental measure of its performance since it facilitates operating performance comparisons from period to period by eliminating potential differences in net income caused by the existence and timing of share-based compensation charges, acquisition related costs, and certain other non-cash or recurring and non-recurring items. Non-GAAP Net Income has limitations as an analytical tool and should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for the company's GAAP net income. The principal limitations of this measure are that it does not reflect the company's actual expenses and may thus have the effect of inflating its net income and net income per share as compared to its operating results reported under GAAP.

As presented in the "Reconciliation of GAAP Financial Measures to Non-GAAP Financial Measures" tables that follow, each of the non-GAAP financial measures excludes one or more of the following items:

Acquisition related costs.

Acquisition related costs primarily consist of:

- amortization of purchased intangibles, which includes acquired intangibles such as developed technology, customer relationships, trademarks, backlog, licensed technology, patents, and in-process technology when post-acquisition development is determined to be substantively complete,
- · changes in contingent consideration,
- · inventory adjustments affecting the carrying value of inventory acquired in an acquisition,

- transitory post-acquisition incentive programs negotiated in connection with an acquired business or designed to encourage post-acquisition retention of key-employees, and
- legal and consulting costs associated with acquisitions that have been announced and are expected to close or have closed, including non-recurring post-acquisition costs and services.

These acquisition related costs are not factored into the company's evaluation of its ongoing business operating performance or potential acquisitions, as they are not considered as part of the company's principal operations. Further, the amount of these costs can vary significantly from period to period based on the terms of an earn-out arrangement, revisions to assumptions that went into developing the estimate of the contingent consideration associated with an earn-out arrangement, the size and timing of an acquisition, the lives assigned to the acquired intangible assets, and the maturity of the business acquired. Excluding acquisition related costs from non-GAAP measures provides investors with a basis to compare Synaptics against the performance of other companies without the variability and potential earnings volatility associated with purchase accounting and acquisition related items.

Share-based compensation.

Share-based compensation expense relates to employee equity award programs and the vesting of the underlying awards, which includes stock options, deferred stock units, market stock units and the employee stock purchase plan. Share-based compensation is a non-cash expense that varies in amount from period to period and is dependent on market forces that are often beyond the company's control. As a result, the company excludes this item from its internal operating forecasts and models. The company believes that non-GAAP measures reflecting adjustments for share-based compensation provide investors with a basis to compare the company's principal operating performance against the performance of peer companies without the variability created by share-based compensation resulting from the variety of equity awards used by other companies and the varying methodologies and assumptions used.

Restructuring costs.

Restructuring costs consist primarily of employee severance and office closure costs, including the reversal of such costs. These costs are generally infrequent, cash-based, and designed to address cost structure inefficiencies. As a result, the company excludes restructuring costs from its internal operating forecasts and models when evaluating its ongoing business performance. The company believes that non-GAAP measures reflecting adjustments for restructuring costs provide investors with a basis to compare the company's principal operating performance against the performance of other companies without the variability created by infrequent restructuring costs designed to address cost structure inefficiencies in its business.

Other non-cash items, net.

Other non-cash items, net includes non-cash amortization of debt discount and issuance costs, and the gain on redemption or the accretion of interest income on certain of the company's investments in auction rate securities, in which the cost basis was previously written down in value. These items are excluded from non-GAAP results as either the previous write-down was excluded from non-GAAP results or the item is non-cash. Excluding other non-cash items, net from non-GAAP measures provides investors with a basis to compare Synaptics against the performance of other companies without the variability associated with other non-cash items, net.

Equity investment loss

Equity investment loss represents an adjustment in the book value of an equity investment in a minority owned company. The equity investment loss is a non-cash item. As a result, the company excludes equity investment loss from its internal operating forecasts and models when evaluating its ongoing business performance. The company believes that non-GAAP measures reflecting adjustments for equity investment loss provide investors with a basis to compare the company's principal operating performance against the performance of other companies without the variability created by non-cash items.

Non-GAAP tax adjustments.

The company forecasts its long-term non-GAAP tax rate in order to provide investors with improved long-term modeling accuracy and consistency across financial reporting periods by eliminating the effects of certain items in our Non-GAAP net income and Non-GAAP net income per share, including the type and amount of deductible stock options, delivery of shares under deferred stock unit awards and market stock unit awards, the taxation of post-acquisition intercompany intellectual property cross-licensing or transfer transactions, and the impact of other acquisition items that may or may not be tax deductible. The company intends to evaluate its long-term non-GAAP tax rate annually for significant events, including material tax law changes in the major tax jurisdictions in which the company operates, corporate organizational changes related to acquisitions or tax planning opportunities, and substantive changes in our geographic earnings mix.

Non-GAAP Results

- In evaluating our business, we consider and use non-GAAP net income, which we define as net income excluding share-based compensation, acquisition related costs, and certain other non-cash or recurring and non-recurring items we do not believe are indicative of our core operating performance as a supplemental measure of operating performance.
- Non-GAAP net income is not a measurement of our financial performance under GAAP and should not be considered as an alternative to GAAP net income. We present non-GAAP net income because we consider it an important supplemental measure of our performance since it facilitates operating performance comparisons from period to period by eliminating potential differences in net income caused by the existence and timing of share-based compensation charges, acquisition related costs, and certain other non-cash or recurring and non-recurring items.
- Non-GAAP net income has limitations as an analytical tool and should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for our GAAP net income. The principal limitations of this measure are that it does not reflect our actual expenses and may thus have the effect of inflating our net income and net income per share as compared to our operating results reported under GAAP.
- Please see our second quarter fiscal 2018 press release for additional discussion of our use of non-GAAP financial measures, and the tables attached to the end of this presentation for a complete reconciliation of GAAP to non-GAAP financial measures used in this presentation.

Clear ID™ Quotes

"What's really impressive is how conceptually elegant this setup is. The whole thing is made possible by a Synaptic CMOS sensor."

"The uncanny thing for me with this phone is how obvious and immediately intuitive the in-display fingerprint system is... The technological aspect is just totally invisible and, if you're not paying attention to how challenging this is technically, it feels almost pedestrian and unimpressive. Like, of course, that's how it always should have been. Vivo is just the beginning."

"The screen feels natural to touch, as that's the way we have been interacting with our phones for years. It just makes sense."

1HE VERGE

"In the vein of the best innovations, Clear ID feels like the way fingerprints ought to be read on phones with edge-to-edge screens, and it'll likely serve as a distinguishing feature for device makers planning to incorporate OLED panels in their future phones."

"There's something rather magical about using the in-display fingerprint scanner. It took us back to the first time we used a traditional fingerprint scanner on a smartphone, and we are just as impressed this time around."

"Vivo (with help from Synaptics) appears to have nailed it: It put a fingerprint sensor inside a phone screen. If it pans out, it means nobezel phones without the compromises of rear-mounted finger sensors or still-slower-thanwe-want facial recognition."
